

Risk Profile

With a conventional Residential Mortgage, the lender is interested in the applicant's age, financial position and credit history. In a commercial context, these factors could be of relevance but, other factors are also considered. The lender will be interested in how the applicant's experience, knowledge and skill will impact on running a successful business.